To know what is right and not do it is the worst cowardice – Confucius

Head's Lines

It has been a tricky fortnight in the kitchen as Ginnie has not been well; however, we hope to see her back behind the counter very soon. We have all missed her cooking.

Odd Socks Day starts Anti-Bullying Week and is an opportunity for us to celebrate our individuality. It was great to see so many children and adults revelling in their uniqueness.

The theme of Anti-Bullying Week this year is Choose Respect, and pupils will have an opportunity to discuss how we can build a world where kindness thrives. In September, every child completes a helping hand, identifying adults who can support them, developing necessary protective behaviours. It is then revisited termly. Two of our oldest children, however, also diligently serve as Anti-Bullying Champions, looking out for others in the playground.

We recently codified our anti-discrimination practices, more clearly stating our zero-tolerance approach towards racism, homophobia and other forms of prejudice, which can be found in our Behaviour Policy.

This half term, our value in focus is trust.

Be joyful in hope, patient in affliction, faithful in prayer. Romans 12:12

There is a prayer box near the signing-in point for parents – a group share requests confidentially. Our Reflection Champions maintain a prayer tree for pupils. They have written this prayer for us this week:

Dear God,

Please help us to still be thankful all of this term. Thank you for a relaxing half term, and help us to carry on working hard. Thank you for trust and friends. Amen

The headteacher has chosen this scripture for us this week:

And when the Israelites saw the mighty hand of the Lord displayed against the Egyptians, the people feared the Lord and put their trust in him and in Moses his servant. Exodus 14:31

Loving for today,
Learning for tomorrow,
Forever in faith

Healthy school lunches are freshly prepared on site by Radish, 'a unique boutique catering provider whose expert knowledge is within primary schools'.

Parents and carers are welcome to send their child to school with a snack for break; however, healthy choices are strongly recommended for this point in the day. We also provide a range of fruit and veg.
